Village favors clock tower

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

Village officials not only seem amenable to the idea of a 50-foot clock tower in Antioch's downtown, they have signed a resolution pledging a plot of land will be dedicated for it.

The likely spot is at the corner of Main and Orchard on the corner where the Village Hall sits.

"The village wishes to move forward with this," said Mayor Taso Maravelas. "The site has to be picked before funds can be raised."

Roland Schleusener a resident who used to teach a clock class at Antioch Community High School presented the idea back in February.

The goal in selecting a location is to have a spot that will show it off and will be accessible to those interested in seeing it.

The clock would be electrically wound and would have two bells. The hourly bell would be louder and ring at the top of the clock, and quarter hours would be both lower in tone and ring from a lower position.

The clock itself is an original Seth Thomas from 1917 and would cost about $50,000. The total project, including the tower, would come to about $200,000.

Previously, Trustee Dorothy Larson asked how most communities fund a project like this with the answer being from philanthropic clubs with the village agreeing to "cap off" the project.

Beelow and Hertel property zoning annexation postponed

By JULIE MURPHY
Staff Reporter

There wasn't much to the public hearing for the proposed M-1 (industrial) zoning pending annexation of the Beelow and Hertel property, as attorney for the petitioner Daniel Thut requested a 90-day continuation.

"We're asking to table this matter for 90 days to explore other options," he said. "Another entity is interested in the property for another use more compatible with what the neighbors want."

The continuation was granted, to the pleasure of the Northern Illinois Conservation Club and the Loon Lakes Management Association.

Attorney Newton Finn, representing Loon Lakes homeowners and "other interests" said, "I think that is an excellent idea. I concur. It would be in the best interest of everyone to explore other options."

Thut said his clients brought the matter before the board at this time so the matter would be in the works prior to the moratorium being called for the Route 83 corridor.

In giving a history of the events

'We need a sense of whether Antioch wants this. We know Loon Lakes doesn't want it.'

Daniel Thut

up to now, Thut said the village had been interested in an Industrial Park. His clients paid $175,000 to continue sewer lines down to the property located on the east side of the Wisconsin Central Railroad about one-quarter mile south of Grimm Road.

"We either want to keep going, or give us our money back," he said. "We need a sense of whether Antioch wants this. We know Loon Lakes doesn't want it."

Audience members complained that they hadn't received notice of the public hearing as the notices were mailed to the physical addresses, many of which are essentially vacant lots, and not to the mailing addresses of the owners.

Tom Keefe of the Loon Lakes Management Association said, "We have pristine lakes in northern Lake County. It's disheartening to hear the developer does not really care about our feelings."

When asked by residents how the village feels about industrial development in this area, Vern Burdick, newly appointed chair of the combined planning and zoning board, said, "As of right now, we aren't doing anything. We don't know what the future will bring."

Banks help area residents with community service projects

The banks in Antioch do a lot more for the community than just provide people with a place to put their money.

The State Bank of The Lakes is having Vista Health come in so interested residents can have their cholesterol screened. These screenings will take place once a month now through December.

The screening will indicate total cholesterol as well as HDL/LDL levels and triglycerides. The cost is $25.

Appointments will be taken between the hours of 8:30-10:30 a.m. on the following Wednesdays: May 28, June 18, July 16, Aug. 13, Sept. 17, Oct. 1, Nov. 12 and Dec. 3. To register for one of these screenings, or for more information, call 800-843-2464.

State Bank of The Lakes is located at 440 Lake Street.

First National Bank-Employee Owned is inviting customers and community members to help it celebrate its nine years of employee ownership.

The open-house style celebration will take place on May 23. There will be complimentary cookies, coffee and giveaways as well as a drawing for Great America tickets.

"We like to do something special for our employee ownership anniversary," said Karen Kubin, marketing representative for the bank. "Being employee owned is something we're really proud of."

According to Kubin, the bank is the only one in Lake County where employees own a majority of its stock.

Lobby hours are 8:30 a.m.-6 p.m. The drawings will be held at 5:45 p.m. at both the Antioch location, 485 Lake Street, and the Gurnee location, 36044 N. Brookside Drive.

On a non-banking note: the Antioch Garden Club is hosting "Chain of Lakes," a standard flower show, at the Antioch Meeting House on June 7.

The show is courtesy of the Lakes Region Historical Society, that owns the Meeting House located at 981 Main Street, and will be free of charge.

The doors will be open from 1-6 p.m. The show promises to have specimens of flowers and plants from gardens along with beautiful floral designs.

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Julie Murphy at 847-223-8161, ext. 600 or e-mail, moorfie@ix.netcom.com effective substitute for the locomotive horn in the prevention of collisions and casualties at public highway-rail grade crossings."

Knutsen, and the committee he chairs, created the "safe crossing concept," that uses a four-point approach centered on equipment, environment, education and enforcement.

It utilizes the standard equipment found at all signaled road intersections with the addition of a gate that is 50 percent longer than what is currently being used at rail crossings. The use of already standardized equipment (called MUTCD, manual uniform traffic control devices) keeps estimated installation and repair costs manageable by eliminating specialized equipment that is more expensive and more difficult to maintain.

The safe crossing concept would essentially treat railroad crossings as regular road intersections. It replaces ambiguous, old-fashioned and outdated equipment currently used at crossings with a signal system that drivers are already familiar with at every signaled intersection across the country.

The proposed traffic lights with optional walk lights for areas with sidewalks would simplify law enforcement. Knutsen said the lights would turn red before the gates would go down, making it clear that anyone caught in the intersection had violated the law. The theory is that this, in turn, would reduce the liability of the railroad companies and the municipalities utilizing the system.

The concept is based on equipment and infrastructure already in daily use in every community across the country. The initial cost estimates are about $9,000 per crossing. Relatively low when compared to some other proposed solutions such as the automated train horns being implemented in Mundelein at cost greater than $30,000 per railroad crossing.

A study prepared for the Michigan Dept. of Transportation in 2000 found "in most cases (of railroad crossing accidents) there is some type of driver violation involved." It also noted that "at a red flasher location (without gates), drivers are supposed to stop, assess the risk associated with oncoming trains and then proceed (not a violation)."

Antioch Mayor Taso Maravelas asked Knutsen, an Antioch resident, if he would spearhead a committee to address this issue. "I could only give about 10 percent of my time to this issue. He (Knutsen) is a concerned citizen who has volunteered his time and his money to work on this project," said the mayor. "I want to thank him for his efforts."

"This is what I did before I retired," said Knutsen. "Now I have an opportunity to do something for the community."

In addition to Knutsen, the following are members of the Antioch public safety committee: Thomas Ploss, retired social security judge and Milwaukee railroad attorney; Debbie Rummel, driver's education department head at Antioch Community High School; David Dituro, president of Turo Electric; Michael Doran, president of Landmark Homes; Chuck Fagan, chief of the Antioch Police Department; and Jeff Vandervoort, assistant chief of the Antioch Fire Department; James Fisk, president of the National Railroad Equipment Company and retired railroad employee; Shawn Savka of the Silver Lake Safe Crossing Committee and Lanny Wilson, MD, chair of the DuPage Railroad Safety Council.

NEWSPAPERS

May 23-29, 2003

By DENYS BUCKSTEN
Staff Reporter

Paper bags have been around nearly two thousand years, believe it or not. And, on days when the underbrush at the vacant lot is choked with plastic film bags, it seems they've been around nearly that long, too.

For the consumer going through the mini mart or grocery store checkout, the choice of paper or plastic may boil down to: convenience, habit, ecological concerns (which are open to interpretation), or the desire to remain anonymous in the stands at the next Cincinnati Bengals' game.

The catch phrases in the battles of paper vs. plastic may be simplistic, but they tend to influence peoples' choice of bag. You've heard the comparisons, e.g., "use a paper bag, kill a tree." Of course it's plastic bags stuck in trees and bushes that can be deadly also, against peoples' sensitivities.

In the Anchorage, Alaska area, plastic bags are causing a revolution. Overwhelmed by the blight of white plastic shopping bags, blown out of local landfills and stuck in trees, as far as 15 miles away; bags drifting down the Yukon River and bags wrapped around salmon and seals; the Anchorage-area villages of Emmonak, Kotlik and Galena have banned the use of plastic bags.

Now, at least 30 Alaskan communities have taken a stand against the bags, and the trend is spreading to Europe, Taiwan and South Africa.

In the U.S., manufacturing associations for both plastic and paper have weighed in with their studies and claims.

Manufacturers of both conveyances argue that their product is more environmentally friendly. Everyone knows plastic doesn't dissolve into the soil with the first hard rain.

But makers of plastic bags will be quick to argue that paper doesn't dissolve fast enough to make a difference in the short-term needs of landfills, and what's more, the paper bags waiting to dissolve take up far more space.

According to Dr. William Rathje of the University of Arizona Garbage Project, plastic bags, compared to paper, "consume 40 percent less energy to produce; generate 80 percent less solid waste, produced 70 percent less atmospheric emissions; and release up to 94 percent fewer waterborne wastes."

Paper or plastic?

Ecology concerns, ease of use and habit dictate choices

But the Paper Bag Council of the American Forest and Paper Association in Washington, D.C., points to its active promotions of reuse and recycling of paper bags, corrugated boxes and other paper products.

Whether by dint of logic, or following the herd, Lake Countians have indicated some strong preferences of their own—and much of the sentiment has swung toward plastic, ecology be damned.

Nerroth's Food Mart, on Old Gages Lake Road in Gages Lake, has been in business 45 years and paper went the way of the Hula Hoop, said owner Pearl Nerroth.

"Nobody here asks for paper," she said. "It's been five or six years since we had a paper bag in the store."

Plastic bags, however, cost money for a neighborhood "pickup store" watching its bottom line. "So we have a lot of people who bring in their own plastic bags, from Jewel, Kmart and Dominicks and I've used them," said Nerroth. "We couldn't function here without the help and business of our neighbors."

At Sunset Foods at Butterfield Square in Libertyville, plastic is also the bag of preference, by about 80 percent, said a grocery department employee, and the recycling effort by regular customers is pretty good.

"We have the recycling bins and we encourage people to bring back the bags, which has been a great idea. A lot of them do."

The Solid Waste Agency of Lake County, started in 1989 as the first of its kind in Illinois, has provisions for most household and yard waste, but plastic film bags are not on their disposable items list, said SWALCO Executive Director Andy Quigley.

"Obviously, the use of plastic film bags at supermarkets has all the earmarks of convenience. They're light, very strong and easy to carry. It's only been about 10 years since the supermarkets really started pushing them at you."

"But many of the supermarkets also provide for recycling and return of the bags, so that's a positive thing," said Quigley.

"But they really are a nuisance," he added. "In a landfill they're blown out, they blow off of trash trucks and even in a recycling facility, they're a nightmare to handle."

One innovation to keeping plastic film bags grounded has been covered recycling carts on wheels. Gurnee was the first village in the area to adopt the carts, said Quigley, with Grayslake, Lincolnshire, Kildeer and Lake Zurich following.

Recital to be held at Evangelical Free Church

Hannah Stuart, violin student of Professors Roland and Almita Vamos from Northwestern University and the Music Institute of Chicago will be holding a public recital at the Evangelical Free Church of Libertyville on Sunday, May 25, at 4 p.m. The recital, accompanied by Northbrook resident, pianist Milana Pavenskaya, will be a performance of the Barber Violin Concerto, the Ravel Sonata for Violin and Piano and Gershwin's Prelude No 1.

Stuart, a 15-year-old freshman at Libertyville High School has been studying the violin since age 5 upon enrollment at the Children's Academy of Music in Philadelphia. By age 9 she had completed the Suzuki repertoire and, upon returning to Illinois, Stuart was a featured artist for the Galesburg Public Schools engaging in seven solo concerts for students and faculty. In 1977, at age 10 she was Concertmistress of the Suzuki Association of America Orchestra at its national Convention in Chicago. Three years later, while attending the Marc O'Connor Fiddle Camp near Nashville, she was featured in a Mid-Southern Television special about young string players. A member of the "American (Airlines) Chamber Strings" under Maestro Vamos, she has received Honorable Mention in both the Junior and Senior Divisions of the Society of American Musicians Competitions and was a featured 2002 Steinway Young Artist participant.

This year marks Stuart's second appearance at the National Fischhoff Chamber Music Competition, previously coached by Kathie Johnson of Wilmette and, presently by Desiree Ruhstrat of Highland Park. In the fall, Stuart will be joining the Chicago Youth Symphony Orchestra for their 2003-2004 season. When not playing violin Stuart enjoys singing as a member of the Choralaires of Libertyville High School, meeting with other students in the Seven Day Christian Club and attending her church youth group and worship orchestra.

The Evangelical Free Church of Libertyville is located at 431 West Austin on the corner of Austin and Garfield.

Save the last dance for... someone else

Chaperoning a middle school dance should qualify for hardship pay. That's because there's no such word as "middle" in describing this age group. From their appearance to their moods, pre-teens are as likely to fit one mold as the women who swear they wear a size six.

Here's the recipe for adolescent party magic:

- Start with a simple stock of whole milk, flour, and leftover kids from Mayberry.
- Put on a slow simmer. Watch pot closely. Since these kids DON'T HAVE A CLUE, they soon get bored and start boiling over with youthful exuberance.
- Scrape out scalded bubblegum.
- Mix in a good measure of "Spice Girls" wearing revealing blouses...with absolutely nothing to show for it!
- Throw in a few "kid kabobs" sporting enough body piercing to qualify for a medieval torture chamber.
- Fold in boys continually hitching baggy pants off their backsides; then top off mixture with giggling girls who qualify as Amazons at this age.
- Bake in a hot oven for three hours, being sure to taste often with soda pop...and STERN LOOKS!

Now this is where "The Few, The Proud"...THE ABSOLUTELY MAROONED come in. Little did I know that chaperoning a junior high mixer actually meant being sucked into an earsplitting vortex of raging hormones!

My first clue came when a veteran parent started offering other volunteers odd-looking appetizers. I grabbed a couple and started munching politely...while everyone else put their foam earplugs in the right place.

At this point I would venture to say I'd been pegged as an amateur. So I was given the job of doorman. Under no circumstances was I to let anyone smelling of Clearasil out

LES ON LIFE

without a mom or dad. I lost that job pretty quickly. I wouldn't even have had the chance to stash the Brooklyn Bridge for one girl who needed to step out. She wanted to see if at least her little brother was able to sneak back into their house before the sitter arrived.

I ended up patrolling the dance floor. I suspect the more experienced adults figured out I was one kid minder that was better seen, not heard...even if I looked like Barney at a preschool birthday party. I tried to mimic the Clint Eastwood saunter of the "PTO pro's" as they scoped the scene for trouble. Problem was I had a hard time being intimidating when I repeatedly stumbled into dancing couples, blinded by either the laser lights or the fog machine.

At least I wasn't the only one trying to learn the ropes. Sure, a lot of the middle school students gyrating around me looked like adults. But when it came time for a slow dance, they suddenly "froze" in each other's arms, as if the opposite sex had turned into their great aunt or uncle. What was once a frenzied sea of bodies became waves of stiff buoys. Each pair bobbed in an awkward, but regular rhythm. You could have set a metronome to them. The acid rock left me with a good case of acid reflux, but I take comfort in knowing that some things in life are still predictable...like first attempts at love.

Campus

Quest program to explore Latin America

The history, culture and political developments that have shaped present-day Mexico and Latin America will be the focus of "South of the Border," a weeklong learning experience to be offered June 16-19 as part of Quest, the College of Lake County's program for adults 50 and older.

Formerly called Elder College, the Quest program will be offered at CLC's Southlake Educational Center in Vernon Hills. The session will present in-depth discussions and slide presentations on a variety of topics.

The cost is $189, which includes lunch. A second Quest program titled "Mother Earth" will be held July 14 to 17. That program will explore such environmental topics as the Amazon rain forest, the high cost of energy, sound environmental practices, and the importance of water. A tour of two Lake County environmental sites also will be included.

For registration and information, call the Southlake Educational Center at 847-543-6503.

Computer networking and routing concepts will be taught in a series of four courses in the Cisco Networking Academy program. Additionally, courses will be offered in Web programming, keyboarding, spreadsheets and word processing. Several classes are offered online.

Summer classes begin June 9. Registration is currently underway. For more information and assistance in selecting the appropriate course, call the business division at 847-543-2041.

Food sanitation course for state license

"Applied Food Service Sanitation" (FSM 113), a three-week accelerated course preparing food service managers for the Illinois and Wisconsin sanitation licensing examinations, will be offered by the College of Lake County this summer. The licensing examination will be given as part of the course.

A day and an evening course will be offered at CLC's Grayslake Campus beginning in June and a day section will be offered in July at the Southlake Educational Center in Vernon Hills.

At the Grayslake Campus, the day class will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays beginning June 9 and the evening class from 6 to 9:30 p.m. on Wednesdays beginning June 18. At Southlake, the class will meet from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Mondays beginning July 14.

The course also is being offered as an independent study course on CD-ROM, both in English and Spanish. Interested students must have Internet access. Materials can be purchased from the CLC bookstore. Students are required to attend a mandatory orientation session from 6 to 7 p.m. on June 9 in Room A146 on the Grayslake Campus.

LaCASA proudly announces this year's summer fundraiser luncheon

Madigan

Continuing its tradition of hosting breakthrough public events that accelerate positive change in the way women are viewed and empowered, LaCASA proudly announces that this year's summer fundraiser luncheon will feature a dramatic program entitled "Shining a Light on Sexual Violence," featuring two of the state's most dedicated and influential female elected officials.

Set for noon on Monday, June 30, The Lake County Council Against Sexual Assault's first annual "Women Helping Women" event will feature and address by "Lake County Coroner Barbara Richardson" detailing the physiological and psychological effect of sexual violence on individuals. Preceding Ms. Richardson's talk, "Illinois Attorney General Lisa Madigan" will offer opening remarks in support of LaCASA's vital role in assault prevention and survivor support. "In changing to lectures by influential women like Richardson and Madigan, we hope to inspire women to take action for a cause that impacts their lives," co-chairs Leslie Kischer and Nan Streicker said. "This new approach builds on the importance of female solidarity and women looking out for each other."

The event will be held on the grounds of the LaCASA/Zacharias Center at 4275 Old Grand Avenue. In addition to the presentations by Richardson and Madigan, the luncheon will feature building tours, a gourmet box lunch, silent auction and live music. Please call David Diaz at 847-244-1187 Ext. 21 to reserve a spot

A conversation with Mark Wahlberg
By George O. Singleton

Mark Wahlberg is best known for his acting roles in "Perfect Storm" and "Planet of the Apes". While his new film "The Italian Job" may not surpass these two blockbuster films at the box office, for all the right reasons, it's likely to be his trademark film for the foreseeable future.

Although Mark has acted in a wide variety of pictures, a number of them have been remakes where he is walking in the footsteps of Charlton Heston (Planet of the Apes), Cary Grant ("Charade" was remade into The Truth About Charlie) and Michael Caine ("The Italian Job" in 1969). Because he does not want to get typecast, he "won't do anymore remakes". Fortunately for us, he did this one. What makes this remake work so well is that Mark is joined by a strong cast that has great chemistry. Complimenting that is Director F. Gary Gray who knows how to deliver an action film where you care about the characters.

Wahlberg is a filmmaker's actor who chooses "...roles based on the director. I'm willing to do anything a filmmaker asks." "The Italian Job" takes caper heists films (e.g., "Oceans 11", "The Heist", "The Score") to a higher plateau of action and fun. Wahlberg says that "this movie relies on the audience getting behind this crew" and in the promotional screening I saw the film at, there was lots of laughter with folks applauding as the credits rolled.

When asked about the underwater work in this film, he said "...it was a lot easier doing this than in 'The Perfect Storm'. Action is one thing 'The Italian Job' has plenty of. Over 30 Mini Coopers were used and Mark said that he knows he wrecked at least 20 of them.

This spectacular film is sure to be a crowd pleaser because Mark

Wahlberg is not only the good guy hero in the movie, but he helps everyone perform his or her roles with a higher sense of vibrancy. The movie opens at the local multiplex on May 30th.

Opening This Week

Bruce Almighty Jim Carrey and Jennifer Aniston listen to the word of God, in the person of Morgan Freeman. Freeman challenges Carrey to make the world a better place in just one day or mankind will go back to the Dark Ages. Aniston is Carrey's girlfriend. Sounds like a can't miss comedy.

The In-Laws ***1/2: Michael Douglas and Albert Brooks star in a good old-fashioned comedy, a remake of the 1979 original. A podiatrist who's afraid of everything and an undercover CIA agent are paired up to keep a top secret submarine out of the hands of one of the world's most dangerous smugglers.

L'Auberge Espagnole ***1/2: A no-nonsense French student moves into an apartment in Barcelona, with six other students from all over Europe. Together, they learn how diversity, when embraced, can bring understanding. Romantic comedy.

Le Cercle Rouge A film noir crime thriller, from the French master Jean-Pierre Melville ("Bob le Flambeur," which was remade into "The Good Thief"). This 1970 film is being shown in a rare limited release at The Music Box.

Manic ***1/2 Joseph Gordon-Levitt, a young man subject to sudden and violent outbursts, is committed to the juvenile wing of a mental institution. Other young people are there with a variety of serious problems. For families with teens that may be in or heading toward a difficult adolescence, be sure to see this film. Also stars, Don Cheadle.

Near North Getaway

By George & Pam Singleton

About an hour away for many residents in Lake County, Lake Geneva is the perfect place for a mini-vacation, where the word mini fits the travel time, cost and planning but is "to the max" for value, with things to do, places to stay and variety of dining.

For a romantic mini trip through May, the stay at the Interlaken Resort is $179.00 per night for two, which includes breakfast, two cocktails for later in the day, taxes and gratuities. Details are on their web site at www.interlakenresort.com.

If it's going to be a trip with the kids, consider the Timber Ridge Lodge & Waterpark (www.timber-ridgeresort.com). It's an all suite hotel that includes a separate bedroom, fireplace, VCR, covered balcony, kitchenette and a large whirlpool bath. Childcare is available with a 24 hour reservation by calling 262-249-4560.

There are plenty of golf courses in the area, and at Grand Geneva 18 holes with cart and range balls, is only $85 to June 6th.

Both hotel complexes offer various SPA packages, which is something you can do if you stay for a night or two, or just make it a day trip.

Dining choices abound, such as Millie's for breakfast, Smokey's Bar-B Q House for lunch and Houlihan's for dinner.

When you don't have the time or money to plan a trip that you "need to take" to get away and remain sane, think Lake Geneva. If you can get away during the week, there are plenty of special rates, even during the summer season. This is a great way to use one or two of your well-earned vacation days. Leave the laptop at home and don't check voice mail. You and those you care the most about will be glad you worked this trip into your schedule.

Oakland students raise funds for cancer research

Students at Oakland Elementary School participated in the Annual Leukemia and Lymphoma Society's School and Youth Program. This program raises funds to find cures for leukemia, to fuel lymphoma and myeloma research, and for patient services. It has a double benefit in that it allows students to develop compassion and learn the value of helping others while they are working for a good cause.

The Oakland Elementary School and Youth Program ran for three weeks. The prize for the class that collected the most pennies and other spare change was a choice between a pizza or ice cream party. The winning class was teacher Jeff Smith's fourth grade class. They collected more than $300.

Computers, other electronics, and sports equipment will be presented to the top fundraising schools. Oakland School qualifies to win a Component Speaker System for a PC or Desktop (Internet) Camera. The funds raised at Oakland totaled $1,767.48.

School administrators appreciate the value of students working on a goal that helps others. "Our students' involvement with The Leukemia and Lymphoma Society reminds them of the importance of being involved with the community and helping those in need," said Oakland Elementary School Principal Stephanie Stoneberg. "We were surprised and pleased with the students' efforts in collecting so much money. It is a good example of motivated teachers and generous students and their families."

During the 2001-2002 school year, five million students in 10,000 schools across the country raised $9,000,000 through the School and Youth Program. "This really shows kids that they have the power to make a dramatic difference in the lives of people who need their help," said Greg Martin, Executive Director of the Illinois Chapter. "The support of Oakland Elementary School students will really help us in our mission of finding cures for these blood-related cancers and helping patients and their families deal with these diseases."

Barbara Dega, this year's coordinator, would especially like to thank the teachers who encouraged their students in this endeavor and the students and their families for their attention and generosity toward this worthy cause. Lake Villa's Patty Jones eyes the board during Project Action's IKON Break-A-Thon held at Antioch Shotokan Karate. The event was held as part of a national fund-raiser to help prevent juvenile crime. Jones had the most breaks (563) during the 1-hour time frame.—Photo by Steve Young

This is quite a concept, folks. Youths, specifically those disadvantaged as well as 'at-risk', can get the needed discipline by attending any one of the area martial arts schools on a scholarship, providing they meet a series of requirements.

Money for those scholarships comes from a variety of vehicles, one of which is the IKON National Break-A-Thon, held nationally once every two years at numerous dojo's throughout the country.

Unfortunately, not many of the area martial arts school's participated in the event. Antioch Shotokan Karate in Antioch did.

"We're not normally a board-breaking school, but we decided to give it a try this year. All for fun, as well as for a good cause," said ASK Owner and Chief Instructor Anna Conners.

Conners said approximately 11 participants, ranging from ages five up to adult, took part in the event last weekend.

"We had a five-year-old (Drew Martin) break 100 boards," said Conners.

Thirteen-year-old Ian Calvert, a brown belt at ASK, had 1,418 breaks during the course of the 1-hour time frame. Kelly Emmanuelson, also 13 and a brown belt, had 1,518 breaks. Grayslake's Patty Jones had 563.

"It was interesting," said Conners. "Some broke the boards with their hands, while others used their feet, elbows and even knees."

How it worked was, interested participants went out and received pledges, or donations, to sponsor them. Then, for a 1-hour period, all of them simultaneously broke board after board, many of them breaking one board at a time.

Conners said her school had six sets of boards going at once.

Antioch Shotokan raised over $500 for the event. All funds go back towards Project Action, the main sponsor for the event. Then, through the recommendation from various schools, Big Brothers and Big Sisters and even numerous hospices, at-risk and troubled youths are selected to attend a school on a scholarship. Again, the money used for the scholarship is generated through fund-raisers such as the break-a-thon.

"Project Action's main mission is to help underprivileged children attend these schools and keep them out of trouble and out of gangs," said Kevin Walker, the foundation's founder and executive vice-president.

Walker also said that funds for the underprivileged children are also raised through an annual kick-a-thon, in which hundreds of dance and gymnastics studios, as well as martial arts schools participate. It is usually held during the winter months.

As for earning the scholarship, children are selected and they go under the supervision and counseling of law enforcement officials. From there, Project Action closely monitors the child's grades, attendance and behavior.

According to Walker, the nation-wide fund-raiser held last week eclipsed the old world record of 50,381 breaks. The new mark now stands at over 71,000. Walker also said the fund-raiser generated $123,000 of all schools competing nation-wide.

Boys' track looks to sprint to the finish

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Some of the best distance teams in the area, like Stevenson, Barrington and Lake Zurich, will be competing in a different sectional.

That means that the door is left open for others, namely Antioch.

The Sequoits have some pretty good distance runners themselves. That will be one of the featured events come May 23 when the team shoots for berths in the state track and field finals in Charleston the weekend of May 30-31.

For now, Antioch will be competing in the Grayslake sectional May 23. Preliminaries will begin at approximately 4:30 p.m.

"We've had some tremendous progress since the beginning of the season," said head coach Norm Hahn. "You never know—if guys on our relay teams can all clique together (at Grayslake), we could have a few go downstate."

Last spring, the only state qualifier was Anthony Baruffi, who made it in the 400-meter run in 50.3 seconds as a freshman.

"Since then, however, Anthony came down with mono and subsequently was unable to compete this year. That was a big blow, especially for our distance relay's," said Hahn.

But chances still look good where the relays are concerned.

The 3,200-meter relay team of senior Mike Addison and juniors David Dee, Andy Napier and Jim Beatty took third at the North Suburban Meet last week with a time of 8:15.

"They are very capable of getting down to the 8-minute mark," said Hahn. "We should be close to Libertyville and Carmel. All of them are around the 2-minute mark for their split times."

Hahn said the 3,200-relay team's best time this season was 8:11. The state qualifying mark is 8:02.

Addison, Dee, John Ferris and Michael Perry could also gain a berth in the 1,600-meter relay.

Hahn said they have already posted a 3:32.

The best in the county thus far this season has been 3:29. So that time is well within reach.

Individually, Napier, an All-Stater in cross-country last fall, has a great chance of making it in the 1,600-meter run. So far, his best time is 4:27, which ranks in second in the sectional. Beatty will also most likely compete in the 1,600 and 3,200-meter runs. His best time this spring in the 1,600 has been 4:27, while he has clocked in with a 9:39 in the 3,200.

Speedster Perry will also have a great shot at making it in the 300 intermediate hurdles.

"He should be in the top-3," said Hahn.

Perry already has conference and county titles under his belt in that event this season. His best so far is 39.9 seconds. The state qualifying mark is 39.5. Perry also finished third at conference in the 110-meter high hurdles with a time of 15.6.

Field events have been a plus as well for the Sequoits. Senior Ryan Jordan won the conference title in the discus with a toss of 149 feet, 4 inches. Jordan's lays claim to the best throw in the county thus far this season at 167 feet, 4 inches.

"Last year, he only broke 150 (feet) once," said Hahn. "Now he's consistently over the 150 mark. He's had 152 several times."

At conference, the 800-relay team was fifth in 1:36.7, while the 1,600 relay finished third with a season-best time of 3:32.2. As a team, Antioch scored 50 points.

At sectionals, the top-2 finishers in each event at sectionals, given they haven't met the state qualifying standard, earn tickets to Charleston.

Sequoit netters looking to open bag of tricks

By JOHN PHELPS
Sports Editor

Antioch varsity tennis didn't have any qualifiers for last year's I.H.S.A. State boy's tennis meet.

That could change May 23-24 when the team heads a little west to compete in the McHenry sectionals.

According to head coach Bryan Plinske, a number of his Sequoits could jump up and snakebite you at any time.

"It will definitely be a tight race, a dog fight," said the coach on sectionals, which start with preliminary rounds at 3 p.m. on May 23. The finals will then be the next morning, commencing at approximately 9 a.m.

"But we're exactly where I thought we would be. We started the season strong then had some matches where we struggled. But now, the guys are hungry. This is the last chance for some of them (the seniors). I think we've got a great shot at qualifying several (for state)."

The last time Plinske had a state qualifier was when singles player Jason Love made two consecutive appearances (2000-01). The doubles team of Jim Gramhofer and Jason Darfler also made the trip to the state meet along with Love in 2000.

Speaking of singles, No. 1 player in senior Rob Janke has a legitimate chance, according to Plinske.

"You look at who he's played this season and beaten—he certainly has the drive and determination," said the coach on Janke, who currently sports a 19-10 record. "His biggest asset is that he's not intimidated by anyone. You'll have to play your best if you're going to beat him."

The other singles player who will make the trip to McHenry is sophomore Andrew Nichols, who has a pretty good record at 20-7.

At the North Suburban meet last week, Nichols went 3-1 while winning the consolation title at No. 2 singles. As a team, the Sequoits finished fifth out of 11 with 15 points. Lake Forest wound up winning, followed by Warren and Stevenson in second.

"He (Andrew) has a ton of weapons in his bag," said Plinske of the second year varsity player. "His game is mainly power if he's hitting off the front foot. But he can also hit those crucial chip shots. He has a pretty big serve, too."

The first and second doubles teams also have a legitimate shot of making it to state.

The No. 1 team of seniors Carl Slimp and Nate Pratt currently sport a misleading 10-16 mark.

"They have excellent chemistry," said Plinske. "They do very well anticipating each other's moves. Carl is more aggressive at the net while Nate kind of hangs back. They will definitely give the opposing team a bunch of different looks. They are both very intelligent players."

And, at No. 2, senior Pro Shah and junior Sam Hagedorn started the year 5-0. They then lost a match to Wauconda but rallied to win nine straight after that. They currently stand at 21-5 on the year. That mark includes redeeming themselves with a victory over that same Wauconda team at the NSC meet, where Pro and Sam wound up finishing fourth. This is the first year the duo has played together. Last year, Sam was a junior varsity singles player while Pro played doubles on varsity. Plinske said he decided to give them a shot at playing doubles together. It turned out to be a great move.

"Pro is the calmer one while Sam is the fire-breather," said Plinske. "They complement each other very well. Sam has one of the hardest serves, while Pro has great mobility and can run down anything. Both are good at ground strokes and both have a lot of power from the baseline. Lobs will be a big key for them, (at sectionals)."

Those who will not be competing at sectionals, as only two singles and two doubles teams are entered, include the third doubles team of juniors C.J. Nichols and Ryan Reimer. They achieved a mark of 14-7 this spring.

For those who qualify, the state meet will be held at several northwest suburban high schools on May 29-30. The finals for singles and doubles will then be held on the 31st, all at Hersey High School in Arlington Heights.

Mortenson sets another record

Antioch senior Robyn Mortenson added another accolade to her credit in the Sequoits' 4-2 victory over Highland park this week.

Mortenson dished out her 20th assist of the season, a new single-season record at the school. The midfielder already has the career assist record at Antioch, which currently stands at 45.

Mortenson also scored a goal as well. Gina Florian, Callie Check and Kelsie Morway also tallied for the Sequoits, who improved to 14-6-2 on the season.

Antioch, the third seed, will now move on the play in the Prairie Ridge regional, where they will open against either Crystal Lake South or McHenry on Mon., May 26. Game time is set for 4 p.m.

Parents want to oust hoops coach

Grayslake—Some parents have accused varsity boys basketball coach Tim Bowen of inappropriate behavior, and want him fired.

District 127 Superintendent Dr. Elizabeth McDonald met with the committee last Thursday, and McDonald told the group Tuesday that the administration has decided not to pursue the allegations against Bowen at this time.

Candance Applehans, a committee member, said, "(Bowen has) an intensity on the court that is a little too intense."

Jonathan McMeekin, 17, allegedly severely beat the parents Rick Rogers, 49 and Angela Gloria, 36 with a hammer Monday morning at the Rogers' home. Rick Rogers is still in critical condition while Gloria Rogers was upgraded to fair condition as of Wednesday.

McMeekin is charged with two counts of attempted murder, two counts of armed violence, one count of home invasion while armed with a deadly weapon and one count of home invasion causing great bodily harm to a resident.

Man admits to strangling his wife

Round Lake Beach—Nearly six weeks after the fact, a Round Lake Beach man, Kewal Aujla, 29, has been charged with first degree murder in the strangulation death of his wife, Nandini Aujla, 30, following a domestic dispute.

Initially, it was a missing person case. Aujla reported his wife had vanished from their home on April 9.

Aujla admitted this week he had killed his wife that day. Monday, he led them to a storm sewer in the parking lot of Sam's Club in Vernon Hills, where Sangha's body was found. Aujla is being held in Lake County Jail on $5 million bond.

'Safe crossing' railroad option tested

Antioch—A public safety committee has been working on a railroad crossing that is safe enough that it would become unnecessary for trains to sound their horns. The proposed test site is at a crossing on Route 173.

The concept adds a gate that is 50 percent longer than what is currently being used at local rail crossings.

Are we ready?

Mock drill is just one in a long line of preparations for disaster

By BRENDA BALIN-BEITSCHER, ELIZABETH GUARD and MARC JENKINS
Staff Reporters

As the nation went on a heightened alert status this week—Level Orange—Lake County too is ratcheting up its readiness in case of catastrophe.

Starting May 12, local disaster scenarios in the Top Officials 2 (TOPOFF2) drill included a plane crash at Midway Airport, a clandestine biological lab raid on Chicago's West Side and multiple strategic national stockpile sites to distribute medicine—including one in Lake Bluff.

The $16 million, real-time bioterrorism exercise was a congressionally-mandated, federally funded simulated terrorist drill utilizing weapons of mass destruction.

In our backyard, local agencies were tested in their ability to distribute, ration and protect medicine used to treat pneumonic plague.

Standing ready

According to Jim Schultz, Director of the Lake County Emergency Management Agency, the county was well prepared to handle the demands of TOPOFF2.

In fact, the county was well prepared even before emergency awareness was raised by the events of Sept. 11, 2001.

"We had a terrorism plan in place prior to Sept. 11," Schultz said. "When 9/11 happened, we were ready."

He noted that, during the anthrax scare that followed the terrorist attacks, the county had two of three test kits in northern Illinois, and were able to quickly reassure those who thought they had been exposed.

Response to the potential emergency was facilitated by the involvement of the Lake County Fire Chiefs Specialized Response Team.

The team was formed as a means of pooling resources after fire chiefs realized the costs of maintaining their own HAZMAT (hazardous materials) teams was prohibitive. The team functions in the same manner as MABAS (Mutual Aid Box Alarm System), drawing on the equipment and manpower of several agencies in an emergency.

Schultz said the bioterrorism drill was useful in making county personnel think about the process.

"Even without the drill, we would have been miles ahead of any similar area. Had this really happened, we would have gotten through it," he said. He did note that the drill helped identify some areas of logistical weakness, and some minor changes are expected, such as relocation of some telephones, for example.

Part of the drill's effectiveness was due to its high level of realism.

Marine units help keep Chain O' Lakes safe

By STEVE PETERSON
Staff Reporter

The Lake County Marine Unit is ready for another summer of patrolling the Chain O' Lakes and its portion of Lake Michigan.

"We start patrolling the first weekend of May," said Bruce Scottberg, commander of the Lake County Sheriff's Department Marine Unit. "It has not been real nice yet, so there has not been a lot of boaters. If it is 75-80 degrees on Memorial Day weekend, you will see thousands. But traditionally, it is wet and cold on Memorial Day."

Scottberg said that the unit's personnel are aware of the nation's present security awareness state.

The unit has welcomed eight new staffers, due to some scheduling changes and a requirement of hiring fully-sworn police officers.

Scottberg said that the unit's No. 1 goal continues to be the strict enforcement of the .08 blood alcohol content rule for impaired boat operators. This is a directive from Lake County Sheriff Gary Del Re.

Fox Waterway Agency (FWA) director Ingrid Enriquez said that the presence of the marine units from Lake and McHenry counties is good on the Chain O' Lakes.

"The FWA board of directors wishes to review the contracts with Lake and McHenry county marine units," said Enriquez, director of the state agency created in 1985.

In addition to the marine units' patrols, the Chain O' Lakes also has the services of the Conservation Police of the Illinois Department of Natural Resources (IDNR).

"The Conservation Police are given boating space at our FWA headquarters, and office space, because we are both state agencies. We rely on them quite a bit. Their focus is more on hunting, debris and pollution. They have adopted our ordinances so that they are now state laws. We had a problem in the fall when our contracts with the counties would end, but there still would be duck blinds up," Enriquez said.

Enriquez:
Ensuring Chain
safety is key.

DO YOU THINK LAKE COUNTY IS ADEQUATELY PREPARED IN THE EVENT OF DISASTER?

X READY*Playing the part

County Board Chair Suzi Schmidt, who was playing herself in the drill, was so involved that, at one point, observing a mother and child (not role-players in the exercise) on the street, she thought, "They are going to die."

She said a woman from FEMA took her role-playing seriously.

"When she heard we weren't getting enough drugs, her face fell," Schmidt reported.

Schmidt, in her role as county leader, first declared the county on "Code Red," claiming it as a disaster area, and then worked to get prophylactic antibiotics to first responders and volunteers, as well as administrators.

"We needed people to be well so they could make important decisions," she said.

If this were a real emergency, Schmidt would have had to act quickly.

"I am only allowed to act without a board vote for one week," she said. The exercise ran for just under a week.

Will we have enough?

At one point in the drill, Schmidt was stunned to hear that the county would only receive enough medication for 7,000 people.

"We knew that without the medication, anyone infected would only live 24-36 hours," she said.

Later, more "medication" became available, but the volunteers could still only treat about 1,000 people an hour.

"In reality, we would probably have needed 32 sites in the county," she said.

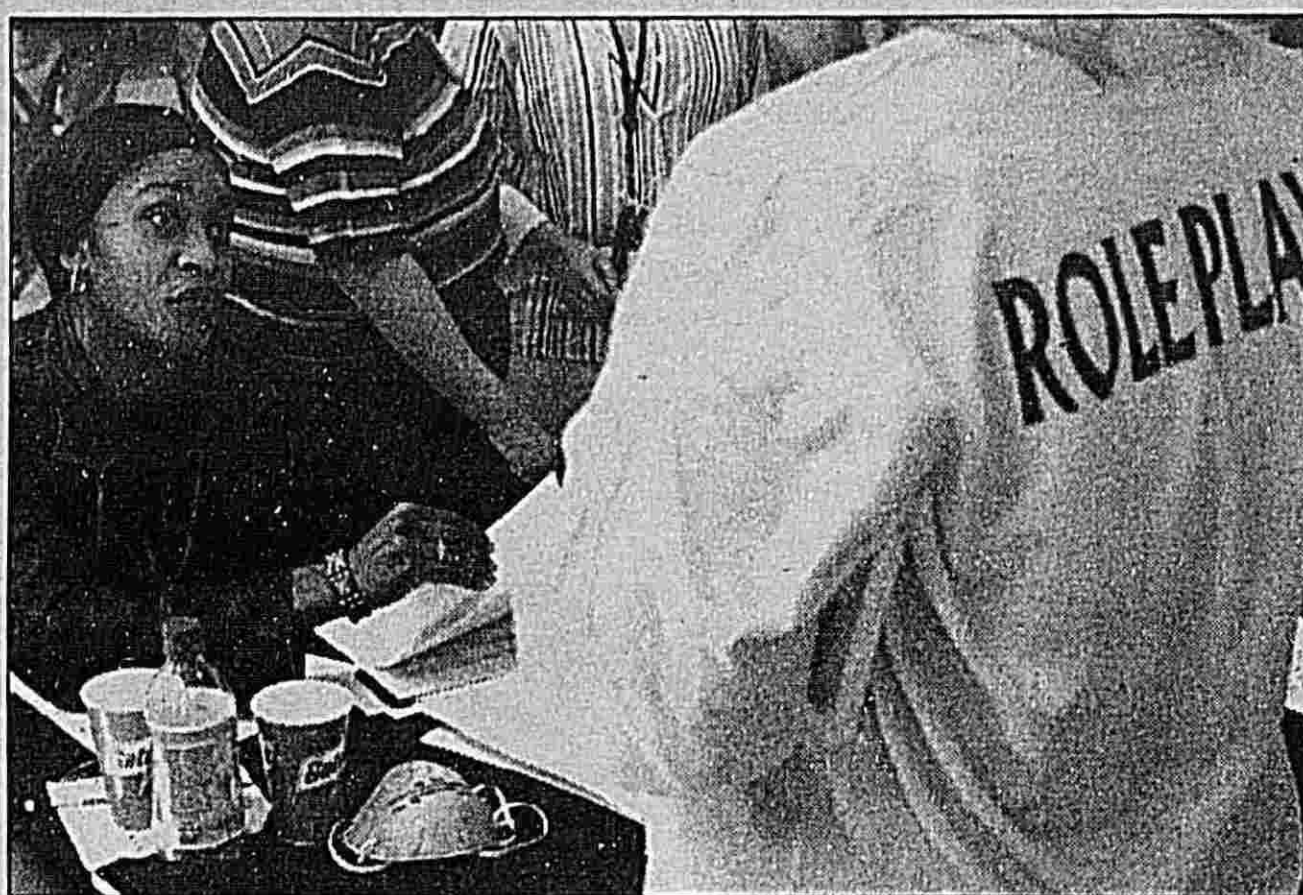

Schmidt feels confident of Lake County's ability to handle a large-scale emergency.

"I would say we are well prepared," she said. "But we realized we would need more volunteers."

She lauded the Lake County Health Department for doing "a great job" in getting medication distributed.

County purchases gas masks as homeland security measure

The Lake County Board has approved awarding a sole source contract to Safety Systems Corporation in the amount of $47,164 for the purchase of gas masks and accessories on behalf of the Lake County Sheriff's Department.

According to Peter Austin, assistant county administrator, the 200 Avon safety gas masks and accessories will be used by the deputies working for Lake County and will be paid for by a local law enforcement federal block grant.

"It's part of the larger homeland security issue," said Austin. "The masks are a new standardized model being incorporated throughout the state and will allow different agencies to swap masks at the (emergency) scene."

According to information released by the county, Safety Systems Corporation, in Carol Stream, has the sole distributing rights for the Avon gas mask and accessories within the U.S.

It also stated that the State has indicated the necessity to standardize the brand and model of gas masks used throughout the state and it has tested and approved the Avon brand.

Lake County Undersheriff Gary Striker said, "Our older masks don't cover all of the biological risks and we wanted to have standardized masks for all of the first responders so that air canisters could be exchanged if needed."—By Jeff Zachary roles at the Lake Bluff distribution site, numerous scenarios were able to be tested.

That included a mock drug raid by a team of three, which Lake County Sheriff's police quickly stamped out.

One patient caused a disturbance to distract police while others made a mad dash for drugs. But that too was actually a decoy. Hoping the police were too distracted, another small group swooped in to try and steal boxes of the antibiotics.

"We were able to defuse the situation quickly," said Lt. Bert Foster. "No medicine made it outside of the building."

Although many at the site said the drill helped them prepare, Lake County Health Department nurse Maryann Madariaga of Round Lake summed up many sentiments shared at the exercise.

"I think it's been thought out very well," Madariaga said. "But there's a lot we don't know about if this happened for real."

How schools prepare

Several Lake County school administrators have said their schools would be prepared in the event of a disaster or emergency of virtually any measure.

Libertyville High School has a major drill nearly every semester, each of which deals with a different emergency. Principal Joe Wojtena said the last drill dealt with an interior threat to the school.

"In this drill, we had police involved with perpetrators who had guns, so we had gunfire in the building and I think we had a bomb outside," Wojtena said.

After the drill, faculty met with the police and fire departments to discuss what should be done in such emergencies.

In the previous drill, Wojtena said the school simulated an exterior threat, or one in which a gunman was running rampant in the community.

Wojtena said in the past several years school staff has attended workshops with police and fire personnel.

"(In the workshops) they set up a mini village and went through about five scenarios and emergencies," Wojtena said. "We've been working to be prepared."

Wojtena added that the school has a crisis team in place and an emergency response team, both of which meet on a regular basis. The school also reviews its crisis plans and emergency procedures regularly.

Wauconda High School principal Jim LePage said WHS also has several precautionary measures in place to deal with emergencies.

"We've had three or four meetings with the Wauconda and Island Lake Police Departments and the Wauconda Fire Department," LePage said. "They gave us a seminar on emergency steps along the same lines as a biological or chemical warfare threat under an orange alert."

LePage said should an emergency occur, the school would be in contact with the Wauconda Fire Department.

"They would take the lead," LePage said.

LePage said the school has also had a safe school drill in which students and staff go through lock-down procedures.

Team in place

Although Grant Community High School has not had any drills to prepare for a national disaster, principal Marilyn Howell said the school is "absolutely" prepared. She said the school has a crisis team in place, which consists of administrators, counselors and nurses.

Howell added that the school has its entire crisis plan, which covers nearly any conceivable emergency, in the faculty handbook.

Single voice strategy working

Over the years, Lake County officials, mostly mayors, goaded by business groups, have expended a good bit of political capital and more than a little energy chasing the highly controversial Route 53 extension plan as a cure all answer for transportation ills.

While municipal leaders in Lake County invested heavily in a more than 40-year-old highway concept weighted down with financial and environmental baggage, their counterparts in northwest suburban areas have been pushing an agenda tied to mass transit. Their strategy appears to be bearing fruit.

Leaders in Schaumburg, Rosemont, Arlington Heights, Des Plaines, Elgin, Elk Grove Village, Hoffman Estates, Mt. Prospect, and Rolling Meadows, along with Chicago, all are aboard to further Metra's STAR plan for 55 miles of rail linking O'Hare International, Hoffman Estates and Joliet. The leaders have been working overtime to meet federal funding deadlines this summer.

Arlington Heights Mayor Arlene Mulder spotlighted the crux of northwest suburban transportation planning. Mulder said the region is well-positioned to acquire federal transit dollars. Put another way, Beltway biggies in Washington who have hands on public purse strings like what they see in suburban northwest Cook County transit planning.

What is intriguing about the STAR plan is that it follows for a good bit of the way Elgin, Joliet & Eastern Railroad right-of-way, the same EJ&E that runs diagonally across Lake County to Waukegan. The EJ&E's potential has not gone unnoticed, particularly commuter rail service for Lake Zurich, Mundelein and several North Shore areas. But the EJ&E possibilities have never generated the fervor of Route 53. That constitutes somewhat of a mystery.

Northwest suburban political and business leaders are speaking with a single voice, a voice that is being heard in the nation's capitol. Lake County officials could follow the same strategy. Only they need to be talking about plans that are doable and have favor with federal funds. Route 53 doesn't fit that category in any way, shape or form.

New meaning for senior housing

There seems no end to the plans, projects and promotions devised by the building industry to keep long-time residents hereabouts from fleeing to Sun Belt retirement and life styles where a skittish climate isn't a factor.

For the northern Illinois weather warriors who've conquered blizzards, winters that never seem to end, serious flooding from time to time and man-made hurdles like clogged highways, long lines at the supermarket and taxes that only go in one direction, Lakeland offers an ever wider selection of housing.

To their credit, elected officials are tuned into the needs for senior citizens. Both politicians and market forces are providing for changing housing needs. That's all to the good. Just about every community in this locality has responded with provisions for apartments for seniors and specially designed facilities offering care for the elderly.

As a retiree, unless you have a fondness for Arizona sand and cactus or Florida's heat and humidity, Lakeland has a lot to offer adults 55 and older with restricted communities. There are home prices to fit every pocketbook, starting in the $120,000's and heading for the financial stratosphere.

Saddlebrook Farms, in the mid-county rolling countryside, has been a notable hit. Opened more than 10 years ago, Saddlebrook features single family homes built on the shores of more than 100 acres of man-made lakes. HeatherRidge, Gurnee, was an instant success with its condo atmosphere for seniors who are attracted by a golf course setting. Lake County's first retirement community, Leisure Village, Fox Lake, built more than 30 years ago, continues to thrive in the Chain O' Lakes where boating and fishing are attractions. Richard J. Brown Co., Libertyville, has successfully added over age 55 housing components at Grayslake and Beach Park. These and other communities designed for seniors continue to attract new residents both from Lake County and elsewhere.

Could be that global warming is making the midwest winters less severe, but members of the older generation aren't packing their bags for the trip south like they once did.

VIEWPOINT

Shhhh! Noise police lurking

Members of the Lake County Board have come down hard on the side of peace and tranquility with the adoption of the ground breaking Public Nuisance Ordinance, a law designed to control loud and obnoxious noises.

Most of the lawmakers see the new regulation as a work in progress. County Board Rep. Steve Carlson (R-Grandwood Park) cheerfully told a reporter, "If it doesn't work, we can fix it." Because of long standing citizen complaints, board members wanted to do something. So they did.

With the ordinance applying only to unincorporated areas, owners of loud motorcycles, ear-piercing snowmobiles, thunderous rock bands performing in the open (or even enclosed structures), various and sundry power tools, and householders playing souped up stereo systems, face fines for violations.

The ordinance is far reaching, but there are glaring omissions and loop holes. Like boat noise which has been a problem in the Chain O' Lakes for years. Boat noise got a pass. Unmuffled mega powerboats still will be able to shatter the pristine silence of waterways. What about a major pet peeve, mobile boom boxes with enough amp power to rattle china and shake walls?

BILL SCHROEDER
Publisher

As a practical matter, the ordinance will have its biggest impact on building projects. New rules limit use of power construction tools to 6 a.m. and 9 p.m. Monday through Friday and 8 a.m. to 9 p.m. Saturdays, Sundays and legal holidays. Primary enforcement was turned over to the beleaguered Planning, Building and Development Dept.

Politicians are doing their best to make summer days more serene. Thank you very much. But a word of advice. Don't throw away the earplugs just yet.

NU departure

They're at it again. Big 10 moguls talking about adding another team—Notre Dame, Pittsburgh, Syracuse, whatever. Instead of becoming the Big 10 Plus Two, shouldn't they do something about solving the Northwestern dilemma?

Private school, small football stadium, band-box basketball arena. NU could become Mid-Con or some other Division 1 and still remain officially major. That would still leave the door open for expansion. Being the Big 10, Really Big 10, would be a both technically and practically correct.

Time to buckle up

Illinois Sec. of State Jesse White issued a reminder that Buckle Up America week is in progress until May 26. It's the law in Illinois: All drivers and front seat passengers wear safety belts; all back seat passengers under age 18 must wear safety belts; children between 4 and 16 years of age must be secured in either a child safety seat or safety belt; children under age four must be secured in a federally approved safety restraint system. For the scofflaws among us, take note that 100,892 drivers were convicted of not wearing their safety belts in Illinois in 2001. That same period a total of 1,414 lives were lost in crash fatalities.

One man's family

There's a tomato patch on newly spaded soil in the backyard that is supposed to supply family and friends with home-grown fruit later this summer. Only early bearing varieties were planted in hopes that there will be tomatoes to harvest before the first frost.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Loss of Hastings Lake YMCA sad

I can't help feeling sadness instead of euphoria at the news that the Forest Preserve has purchased the Hastings Lake YMCA site. Yes, it's as good as it can get, considering it could have gone to a developer. But let's not forget the loss of the "premier camping site with a program dating back 80 years".

The camp will still be dissolved, the summer day camp program still discontinued, and all the buildings torn down.

As for the Chicago Metro YMCA board of governors being "unfairly cast in a bad-guy role," remember that they reneged on their original agreement to sell to the Hastings Lake Coalition, which was working on a proposal with the Forest Preserve to purchase the site together as partners.

If Metro Y hadn't changed its mind and decided to hold on to the pool and Community Center, and the Coalition had been successful in their partnership with the Forest Preserve, we could still have the new Forest Preserve, the fire station site, cash for the Metro Y, and a continuing Y facility—including the wonderful summer day camp program that hundreds of kids—including mine—will now miss, and remember fondly.

No disclosure

I find it of great interest that despite concerns over higher phone rates, SBC got its wish, permitting it to charge rivals more for using its phone lines. The new law is tantamount to a hidden consumer tax that benefits SBC, and will inevitably lead to higher phone bills for residential and business customers. When you have a major piece of legislation that is opposed by every consumer group in the state, as well as every other phone company other than SBC, that is a strong indicator that SBC is on the wrong side of the issue.

It is important to point that this legislation could not have been passed without strong support from Senator Terry Link (D-Vernon Hills), who as one newspaper reported, "cast aside questions about a possible conflict of interest." His wife, Susan Link, is a registered lobbyist for SBC. He did

PARTY LINES

PARTY LINES, THE LAKELAND NEWSPAPERS' COLUMN OF POLITICAL OPINION, IS PREPARED FROM STAFF REPORTS.

Thomas viewed for Senate bid

Lake County Republican leaders are sorting out a widening field of U.S. Senate candidates now that three top-flight GOP names have declined to run for the seat being vacated by Sen. Peter Fitzgerald.

In the early going, the nod is going to Jim Oberweis, millionaire owner of an investment firm and connected with a family dairy business in Aurora. Oberweis has let it be known to County GOP Chairman Tom Adams that he's in the race for sure.

Another name popped up over the weekend familiar to both political watchers and sports fans. State Supreme Court Judge Bob Thomas could be a surprise starter according to Dr. Bill Dam, Republican central committeeman for the 8th Congressional District. Thomas, first known as a kicker for the Chicago Bears, began a successful law career after his playing days and then became a highly regarded jurist. He's been on the ballot before.

"He's done well in Lake County and I think he would do well in the state," asserted Dam, former mayor of Fox Lake who includes active political participation as part of his life as a medical practitioner.

Former Gov. Jim Edgar, ex-Atty. Gen. Jim Ryan and incumbent Illinois Treasurer Judy Baar Topinka all have spurned bids to run in 2004. Former Lt. Gov. Corinne Wood of Lake Forest hasn't responded to press speculation that she could be persuaded to run.

Riding out storm

Gurnee Mayor Don Rudny said Village Administrator Jim Hayner's conservatism during the go-go days of the 1990s is paying dividends today. Rudny told a business group that Hayner made sure adequate reserves were set aside when other villages were spending freely. Rudny said Gurnee will have a balanced budget for the 2003-04 fiscal year. "We're weathering the storm," the mayor declared.

Hitting Mathias

Libertarians are turning up the heat on State Rep. Sidney Mathias (R-Buffalo Grove) over his efforts to sustain a bill to keep alive a Lake County tax they say produces $10 million a year. In their communications pieces they've taken to referring to Mathias as a "property tax thief." A Lake Zurich resident, Eric Dubiel, handles communications as chair of the Lake County Libertarian Party.

Bauer challenger

Round Lake Library District board member Steve Skinner has decided to run for the Lake County Board seat for District 6 in the next election in an effort to challenge Don Bauer and his "Free golf for Lake County Board members" policy.

Helander bruised

It's going to take awhile to heal bruised feelings between County Clerk Willard Helander and County Board Rep. Audrey Nixon (D-North Chicago) and Angelo Kyle (D-Waukegan). The two reps upbraided Helander in open session over tabulation problems associated with the April 1 election. Helander countered that Nixon and Kyle were grandstanding "for television." Board sessions are televised on cable.

Separating spouses

Despite a rebuff, Island Lake Trustee Tom Hyde is going to stick to his guns opposing appointments that put a trustee in a position of overseeing a spouse's employment with the village. Hyde's wife works for the village. "Not good," Hyde insists.

Economy minded

County Board Rep. Pam Newton (R-Vernon Hills) showed her economy side when she took exception to Building Dept. Director Phil Rovang's call for a $140,000 study. Newton explained that there is plenty of data available from previous studies for the particular problem at hand. "Enough study, already," Newton emphasized.

Rejecting principles

Upsetting is the only way to describe Republican State Senator Adeline Geo-Karis of Zion's performance and recent voting during the spring State Legislative session.

It is obvious Senator Geo-Karis has lost the fire in her belly and strength to stand up for the people in her Senate district. Voting with Lake County Democrats Link and Garrett on four massive permanent tax increases that will cost Lake County residents millions of dollars, Senator Geo-Karis voted four times to break the tax cap, chipping away each time at the only salvation the taxpayer has to limit the ravages of bureaucrats seeking a never-ending supply of our money for their projects that they say we all need and want.

Geo-Karis' vote with Democrats Garrett and Link is a rejection of her Republican principles and shows that she is Republican in name only. Geo-Karis should return to her Senate district and explain at public forums around the district why she broke the promises of the tax cap legislation. Explain how her constituents can save money for their children's college education, family vacations, health care and eventual retirement in this troubled economy. Explain how we, her district voters who have seen our jobs lost, wages cut, investments shrink, can make it in today's turbulent world and explain how we will be better off with her votes.

Ban would harm

American adults can be divided into two groups: those who believe that the government knows what is good for us better than we ourselves do, and those who don't.

The former will likely applaud the suggestion of John S. Matijevich (Seeing It Through, May 16) that the government ban the dietary supplement ephedra, which thousands of Americans currently use, ostensibly to promote weight loss and increase energy.

According to news reports, the use of ephedra has been linked to scores of deaths in the U.S. The supplement's role in these deaths is under debate. Experts note that much more study is needed to determine if ephedra has any beneficial affect at all, and to ascertain its level of toxicity.

The manufacturers of ephedra claim that it is safe to take in the dosage they recommend. This seems to imply that at sufficiently high doses ephedra could be harmful. In this regard, the supplement is similar to alcohol, tobacco, aspirin, cough medicine, Vitamin D, french fries, sugar and salt.

Adults who believe that we ourselves know what is or is not good for us better than the government does will probably oppose banning ephedra. They believe that if adults want to use ephedra, it's none of the government's business. Period.

They also believe that banning ephedra will do much more harm than the sub-

Graduates get advice galore

It's graduation time and all over the land flocks of students, their families and friends are gathering to hear celebrities tackle commencement talks, trying to explain what that schooling was all about.

Fortunately, those dull speeches that were done by pompous pedagogues now often are assigned to highly paid entertainers and other celebrities who lighten the load with some laughter.

Personalities who in recent years have become popular fixtures at graduations include Oprah Winfrey, Alan Alda, Yogi Berra, Whoopi Goldberg, Steven King, Barbara Bush, Bill Cosby, Bob Newhart and many similarly popular celebs.

At Syracuse University in New York state, 20,000 people packed the huge Carrier Dome to listen to, of all people, former President Bill Clinton. And as he entered the dome he received a standing ovation.

Now there's a role model for the graduates to emulate. Only in America. A president who was impeached by the House of Representatives on charges he obstructed justice, abused his power and perjured himself before a grand jury gets a hero's welcome.

What might Clinton have told the college graduates? How about that anecdote with which he amused the news media? "When I was a young man in the 1970s I owned an El Camino pickup. It was a real sort of Southern deal. I had Astroturf in the back. You don't want to know why."

Actually, Clinton gave a 30-minute speech on national and world issues without ever delivering his most infamous lines, such as:

"I am going to say this again: I did not have sexual relations with that woman, Miss Lewinsky."

Or, "It depends on what the meaning of

THE PFARR CORNER

the word 'is' is. If the 'is' means is and never has been, that is not, that is only one thing. It means there is none, that was a completely true statement."

(Nothing like a little gobbledy gook to put some frosting on the cake of college education.)

As the saying goes, "Today's president, tomorrow's postage stamp." Or, "Today's president, tomorrow's commencement speaker."

Perhaps we should create a hall of fame for graduation speakers. Following are some of my nominations, along with slices of their treasured advice:

Bill Cosby: "You people look cute but that won't be enough. Your rooms are as filthy today as they were when you graduated from high school. And we want them cleaned up."

Yogi Berra: "When you come to the fork in the road, take it."

Filmmaker Spike Lee: "Thank you. Eat your vegetables." (Famous for its brevity.)

William Rehnquist, chief justice of the Supreme Court: "Don't stop now. College courses aren't the only way. There are libraries, galleries, theaters and museums, and you don't have to pay tuition for them. You'll find the more things you're interested in, the more enjoyable your life will be."

And, of course, there's this classic from humorist Art Buchwald: "We left you a perfect world, don't screw it up."

Skidmore: Your property tax bills are finally on the way

Lake County Treasurer Robert Skidmore said his office plans to mail 2002 property tax bills on Friday, May 23.

Due dates for installment payments are June 23 for the first and Sept. 3 for the second.

Skidmore said there are payment options designed to make paying property taxes as convenient as possible.

Those include the Automatic Clearing House program, allowing taxpayers to have their property tax payment directly withdrawn from their checking or savings account on each of the property tax due dates.

Residents who signed up last year for this program will not need to fill out an application again, unless there is a change in information. This option lets property owners avoid long lines, parking hassles and security searches at the Lake County Building in downtown Waukegan.

To apply, taxpayers must complete and sign an application, available online at www.co.lake.il.us/treasurer. This application must be completed and returned 14 days prior to the 1st installment due date.

Credit card payments can also be made online. The credit card company will charge a convenience fee to the user. Skidmore encourages the public to look at the user fees before processing payments.

Taxpayers may also take advantage of two drop-boxes for property tax payments, which will be accessible 24 hours a day, seven days a week. One of the two drop-boxes is located at the Lake County Courthouse Administration Complex north entrance, 18 N. County St., Waukegan. A second drop box will be available at the Lake County Division of Transportation, 600 W. Winchester Road, Libertyville, located one block west of Milwaukee Avenue on Winchester Road.

Other property tax payment options include mail payments, in-person at most Lake County banks and in-person at the Lake County Treasurer's Office. Residents who pay at a bank must bring original tax bills.

For more information, visit the Lake County Treasurer's web site at www.co.lake.il.us/treasurer or call 847-377-2323.

Central Baptist gets school grant

Central Baptist Family Services (CBFS) has received a grant to establish an after-school learning program at the John T. McGee Middle School in Round Lake. The Illinois State Board of Education awarded the $72,300 grant as part of the No Child Left Behind Act. As a 21st Century Learning Center Program, the grant will provide a broad range of activities that range from tutoring, to mentoring, to involvement in the arts and community participation. The program will operate when school is not in session.

The program will provide an opportunity for 50-100 children and up to 150 parents to participate. At least 15 hours of service will be available to the children each week before and after school, evenings and weekends. Round Lake School District 116 and CBFS are partners in the program. One of 35 sites in Illinois awarded the grant in a very competitive process. The five-year grant is scheduled to begin this spring.

For more information on the 21st Century Community Learning Centers Program grant, contact Bruce Rasey, senior vice president, at CBFS's Waukegan office at 847-336-0130.

CARMEL HIGH SCHOOL DIGEST

Debate team honors

The school's speech and debate team was named "one of the best in the country" in a national debate competition by the Bickel & Brewer National Public Policy Forum. This is the first national contest that gives high school students the opportunity to participate in written debate issues of public policy. William A. Brewer, co-managing partner of Bickel & Brewer said, "Carmel High School has distinguished itself as one of the premier schools in this national contest. The school should be proud of its debate program and the students that made it one of the best in the country in this competition."

Carmel was chosen as a finalist from a field of high school teams that included more than 200 students. Carmel's team advanced through several rounds, arguing in written debate and earned an all-expenses paid trip to the finals competition in Dallas where they participated in oral debate. Carmel's excellent showing resulted in a $2,500 grant contribution that will be used to support its debate program.

Members of the team include: Seniors—Max Bever of Gurnee and Kristen Serna of Grayslake. Juniors—Daniel Crook of Wauconda, Paul Lantvit of McHenry, Christian Moree of Mundelein and Matthew Phillips of Libertyville. Sophomores—Shauna O'Sullivan of Hawthorn Woods. ### National French exam

Carmel is pleased to announce the names of those students who earned certificates of honor based on their performance on the National French Contest - "Le Grand Concours." Tony Recchia, Carmel French teacher said, "Our students' scores were among the highest in the Chicago area and Northern Illinois." Carmel winners as well as all National and Chapter winners will be recognized later this month at Dominican University.

Following is a list of Carmel students who will attend the award ceremony on May 31. French I—Michael Davenport of Wadsworth, Brandon Kuesis of Johnsbury, Sandra Ortega of Third Lake, Dorothy Martucci of Libertyville, and Anna Renkosiak of Island Lake. ## IDOT wants you to avoid backups

The Illinois Tollway will suspend all temporary lane closures on construction projects over the Memorial Day holiday weekend from noon on Friday, May 23 until 9 a.m. on Tuesday, May 27. And in an effort to reduce congestion due to weekend travel, the Waukegan Toll Plaza on the Tri-State Tollway (I-94) will now permit cars with I-PASS to use the Truck I-PASS Only lane on weekends.

Major construction areas where drivers should plan for slower traffic during the weekend:

On the Tri-State Tollway (I-94/I-294), at the Touhy Toll Plaza, where traffic is shifted to the right upon exiting the plaza. A second Car I-PASS Only lane for cars has been built and is open to traffic, but median shoulder and median wall repairs continue. Also, at the Cal Sag Channel Bridge on the south end of the Tri-State Tollway, where lane width is reduced and traffic is shifted to the inside shoulder and two left lanes in both directions.

On the Northwest Tollway (I-90), at the Devon Toll Plaza, where an additional Car I-PASS lane for cars is expected to be open in time for holiday travel. Traffic exiting the plaza will remain shifted to the right with all lanes open through the use of the right shoulder.

Nontraditional piercing poses serious risk

If you happen to be among the ranks of frustrated parents of a teen whose obsession is getting his or her belly button pierced and you are trying to be logical and reason with her as to why it is a lousy idea, you need to read on.

Actually, this modern day fad of invasive adornment reminds me of when I was 15, and the "in thing" was getting your ears pierced. The arrival of the gothic metal look was still decades away, undreamed of back then. All my girl friends were wearing pierced earrings, and despite the fact that my mother "forbade it", I defied her wishes.

One day after school, unbeknownst to her, I conjured up a lot of nerve, and walked two city blocks to a doctor's office. Now, this was someone I had never been to before, and when I saw him, I was surprised he was still able to practice medicine. He looked about 80, and he couldn't see very well. But what the heck, he didn't ask me for parental consent, and I was on a mission. The most important thing in my life was to identify with my peers and get my ears pierced.

There is no way I would ever do that now, not in a million years! Especially since he did it with a long needle. Ouch! They didn't have ear-piercing guns then. Somehow, though, he managed to target the ears and I left that day with an imitation ruby in each ear, a swab of cotton and a bottle of rubbing alcohol. The hole in the left ear was lower than the right one, but I was happy anyway. I soaked my new little orifices for weeks with the alcohol. I had some discomfort during that first year, but I was a kid. I survived and it was no big deal—but those were my earlobes that were pierced, and not my navel.

The history of ear piercing seems to originate somewhere between the recognition of the opposite sex and the discovery of fire.

Today it is estimated that as many as 80 percent of American women have pierced ears.

There is disagreement however, when it comes to the advent of navel piercing, some

ON CALL

arguing that it has never been recorded in primitive cultures, while others claiming evidence of navel piercing records stretching as far back as ancient civilizations of Egypt.

Regardless of its earliest appearance, the issue remains that reports of major complications for earlobe piercing are rare. According to an Iowa Department of Public Health publication, "It appears that minor complications of earlobe piercing are common and major complications are rare." On the other hand, recent medical journals have chronicled hundreds of cases of injury and infection involving navel and other nontraditional body piercing.

Medical experts Dr. Leland Rickman of the infectious disease division at the University of California, San Diego School of Medicine (UCSD), and S. Samantha Tweeten, a UCSD graduate student, warn us of the dangers of nontraditional piercing. In the March issue of the Journal of Clinical Infectious Diseases they say, "It is likely that healthcare providers may see an increase in the complications resulting from these piercings." They tell us that cases of seriously infected piercing sites are on the rise, stating that infection with bacteria such as Pseudomonas (P.) aeruginosa or Staphylococcus aureus are most common after piercing.

They cite the case of a 20-year-old woman who contracted a P. aeruginosa infection after having pierced her upper ear. Because it did not respond to initial antibiotic treatment, it resulted in the removal of a large portion of her ear, creating a permanent "cosmetic deformity." Dr. Irwin Harris, Professor of Surgery at UCLA School of Medicine tells us, "Body piercing is not an innocuous cosmetic procedure to be undertaken lightly—the upper cartilage of the ear should never be pierced."

Enough said? So, parents, let your pre-teens and teens know about the risk factors involving the piercing of nontraditional sites including the lips, nose, navel, eyebrows, the upper cartilage of the ear, nipples and genitals. Have your children read this. It may prevent problems down the road.

Glenbrook kids should be held responsible for actions

Have we hit bottom yet? This week I wanted to express my great pride for my hometown of Northbrook and my never-ending gratitude to the kids at my high school, Glenbrook North, for all the incredible notoriety they have bestowed upon all of us who attended there. I hope my sarcasm isn't too distasteful, but I am beyond furious and almost beyond words. For those of you who know me, that takes a lot. There are so many things about this "powderpuff fiasco" that infuriate me, it is hard to know where to begin.

I have spent many years passionately writing and passionately hoping that some of my writings will help parents to do things to develop their kids into good, decent human beings with compassion and responsibility. Too bad my columns aren't in Northbrook too because clearly some people missed that message. People find it hard to believe that kids can be responsible for heinous behavior each and every time it happens. It shouldn't be so hard to believe anymore since we seem to get a hearty helping of it just about every week in one form or another. Many people also seem to feel that the parents had no part in this. I'm sorry, but the way your child turns out is a reflection of what you accepted. I am more than certain that this behavior exhibited by these kids had many red flags prior to this and something should have been done by their parents to teach them differently or contain them. Anyone who believes that it is o.k. to do to someone what those girls did was never taught right from wrong.

Here is what I find revolting:

* These kids did not know right from wrong enough to know not to do something like this.

* Adults actually got involved to supply and support these activities and I am not referring to the drinking.

* Too many people are blaming alcohol. Come on!!! Kids have been drinking for a long time, but I have no recollection of any of my friends or any other kids during our year smearing feces on anyone. Drinking had nothing to do with this behavior.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

* Too many people stood around and watched this event take place and did absolutely nothing but cheer it on. Anyone remember a movie called "The Accused." This was a movie years back with Jodie Foster and Kelly McGillis. I believe it was a true story. It was about a rape that occurred and was cheered on by onlookers at the bar it occurred in. The men who cheered it on were prosecuted for doing that and they were found guilty. The kids watching this event were too old to not know better.

* Too many adults made too many excuses. If I hear "kids will be kids" one more time, I will scream! Kids do toilet paper houses. They also might egg houses which is bad enough. Not to condone, but those might be considered kid's stuff. What we saw on those video tapes was closer to a witchcraft, ritualistic abuse situation. This is not kid's stuff and any adult who says that needs serious help.

* The parents are not only defending their kids and their behavior, but I have heard that they arranged an alternate prom for these "lovely" "people." Classic example of what I have been talking about for years. Parents who not only condone bad behavior in their kids, they defend it and reward it. Gee, I wonder how these kids got that way in the 1st place?

* To many adults pointing fingers at other adults. No one actually taking responsibility for their actions. Sign of the times, I'm afraid.

* No human reaction to this. The moment this story broke, officials at the High School held a press conference in which the academic excellence of this school was mentioned over and over again. Maybe it is not a school sponsored event and maybe the school did not know, maybe, but that does not stop adults from reacting to it. There was no rage or even disappointment over the event. There was nothing normal or human about anyone's initial response. Maybe this is why our society is seeing such an increase in violent behavior. Simply because it is accepted and there is no rage over any of it.

* Why are the Junior girls so desperate to "fit in?" This is also a let down as far as parenting goes. Parents need to really talk to their kids about that much more so that kids don't ever go to this length to belong to any group.

I keep hearing about how this incident should not take away the future of the perpetrators because after all, it was just an "error in judgement" and it shouldn't hurt the rest of their lives because there was no permanent harm done. My question is how do they know what harm was done? Feces can carry parasites. So can animal innards. How do we know yet what the long term effects are going to be of ingesting the "poop cocktail" they ate. The mixture could be harboring some parasite that will eventually harm their internal organs irreversibly. Anyone who has dogs and cats can tell you why it is so important to get their animals immunized. They can and do carry very dangerous bacteria and parasites without that immunization. How do the girls know what the effects of eating that will be? The answer is, they don't. There could be permanent damage. There will definitely be some long lasting if not permanent, emotional damage.

Sadly, none of this surprises me. My friends and I were picked on regularly by these type of kids while it wasn't noticed. You see, my mom made the cardinal sin of shopping for our clothes at Sears. It wasn't ritzy enough for the girls in my gym class and they made sure I knew it for a long time in addition to making sure all of their friends helped them make sure I knew it. Of course, now there are different teachers, different staff, different administration. It was a long time ago and the faces have changed, but obviously the attitude hasn't.

If we are to learn anything from this it is this: make sure your kids know right from wrong from the start. Teach it actively and diligently. If you ever see your child become abusive toward any other human being or an animal, learn what to do to successfully get that to go away. Kids are born instinctual and they do use physical means to get what they want. They don't just outgrow it. Parents have to teach them how to stop it. Then again, some parents obviously don't. Don't be one of those parents. Parents also teach compassion and caring for others. Or they should. They should never stand by while someone is getting hurt. It is never hard to get help for someone. Teach them that caring. Make sure your kids learn the good way when they are young. Let's try and take this country out of the garbage can it sits in now, after this story, and make all of our kids decent and good.

I find it absolutely amazing that if a child tries in school to bring up G-d, The 10 Commandments, religion, spirituality or anything related to it, that is when you see the rage fly and all the adults get up in arms. But, when this evil behavior is going on and I do mean evil, there is a sense that the powers that be have been lobotomized and really have no strong opinion one way or the other about it happening. It is frustrating!

I will say one more thing: there are kids the same age as these kids over in Iraq and Afghanistan making the ultimate sacrifice to protect and take care of others. Those are kids to be proud of! It is an embarrassment that the Northbrook kids are spending their time in the pursuit of harming others and protecting their pathetic behavior. I just hope the right outcome occurs here.

Seniors able to remain in their own home with a reverse mortgage

The fact that Americans are aging is not a surprise to many people. By the year 2025, Americans aged 65 and older will outnumber teenagers by a ratio of 2 to 1!

Many Americans in their "golden years" are not finding these years to be very golden. They're having to make many compromises financially, in many cases altering the lifestyles they have become accustomed to.

However, a relatively new financial tool is now available to senior homeowners aged 62 and older—the reverse mortgage, explained a Wells Fargo Home Mortgage Specialist.

A reverse mortgage is a safe financial alternative enabling older homeowner to remain in their home for years and enjoy a secure retirement. Reverse mortgages enables senior homeowners to access the built up home equity in their home with repayment of the loan deferred until they no longer live in the home. Proceeds from the program are tax-free and can be received monthly, in cash or a credit line can be established.

Historically, income qualifications have prevented many older adults from qualifying for traditional loans. Until recently, many of these homeowners were forced to sell their homes and move in order to cover their expenses.

Proposed law aimed at safety for newborns

Abandoning a newborn infant on a doorstep or in a dumpster usually ends in a baby dying needlessly while a scared, young mother goes to jail. A proposed new law aims to reduce those odds.

House Bill 2298, which gained unanimous approval in the Illinois Senate April 12, would educate teenagers on Illinois Safe Haven law that protects parents who safely abandon their newborn child at a hospital or staffed fire station. Under the law, the parents can remain anonymous so long as the baby shows no signs of abuse.

"The Safe Haven law has saved the lives of three babies since it took affect last spring," said State Rep. Adeline Geo-Karis, a sponsor of the bill. "Unfortunately ten more babies were not left in the safety of a hospital; and five of those died, including one in my district in Waukegan. We need to get information out about this law so that no other baby dies needlessly."

Under House Bill 2298, existing sex education classes would teach teenagers about the Safe Haven law as an alternative to abandoning a child on the streets.

Geo-Karis says that providing this information to high school student ensures they know about the law when they are older. It also targets a group more likely to hide a pregnancy and abandon a baby rather than ask for help.

Forty-four states currently have Safe Haven laws; and many, such as Arizona, already provide information about the law through their sex education classes. Illinois law requires students in grades six through 12 participate in sex education classes, unless a parent objects. All classes must teach that abstinence is the only protection that is 100 percent effective against unwanted teenage pregnancy, sexually transmitted diseases and AIDS.

A double ear infection accompanying a nose infection and a slight case of bronchitis.

Most athletes would probably be home in bed.

Grant senior Cassie Howard had other ideas.

"My coach (Jim Cramer) told me to just block it out, this is your last chance," said Howard, who fought off the evil's of sickness to qualify for the state meet in both the shot put and discus. It was the second straight year she will be heading to Charleston for the I.H.S.A. Girl's State Track and Field finals.

"I wound up talking to myself, just trying to block it (the way I felt) out. I actually think I was faster with my spin (in the shot)."

Didn't matter.

What mattered was Howard still managed to take top honors in the shot with a personal best toss of 41 feet, 6 inches. She then picked up second in the discus with, what she called a sub-par effort, 127-feet even. Howard is the reigning county and conference champ in both events.

But it was efforts like Howard's that told the tale at North Chicago High School, as athletes vied for the rights to head downstate for a final hurrah to the season.

Ironically, Howard's cousin, Warren's Dana Klemm, also qualified in two events. Klemm, also a senior, finished second to her cousin in the shot after a toss of 40 feet, 8 inches. She was also right behind Howard in the discus, finishing third with state qualifying toss of 118 feet, 7 inches.

As a team, Grant had a solid meet in finishing fourth with 61 points.

Alexis Wittlieb of the Bulldogs will also head to state after finishing third in the pole senior Corryn Bitto, who took the title in the discus ahead of Howard and Klemm with a toss of 127 feet, 11 inches.

Junior Jackie Davis qualified in the pole vault, finishing sixth with a vault of 9 feet, 6 inches.

Carmel's 800-meter relay team consisting of Quille, Selz, Keli Coleman and Keri Coleman also qualified after taking second in 1:47.30.

Vernon Hills' senior Sherlenia Green qualified in four events. She was first in the 100-yard dash (12.20) and second in the long jump (17-2). She also joined by Jacqui Leffler, Emilie Clark and Myria Landesman that finished third in the 400-relay (50.0). Green, Clark, Landesman and anchor Allison Kim also made it in the 800-sprint medley, finishing third with a time of 1:52.60.

"It'll be nice to have some of my teammates down there," said Green, who repeated as a four-time state qualifier. "It's was kind of lonely my freshman year. I ran well in the 200 relay, but was kind of disappointed with my effort in the long jump."

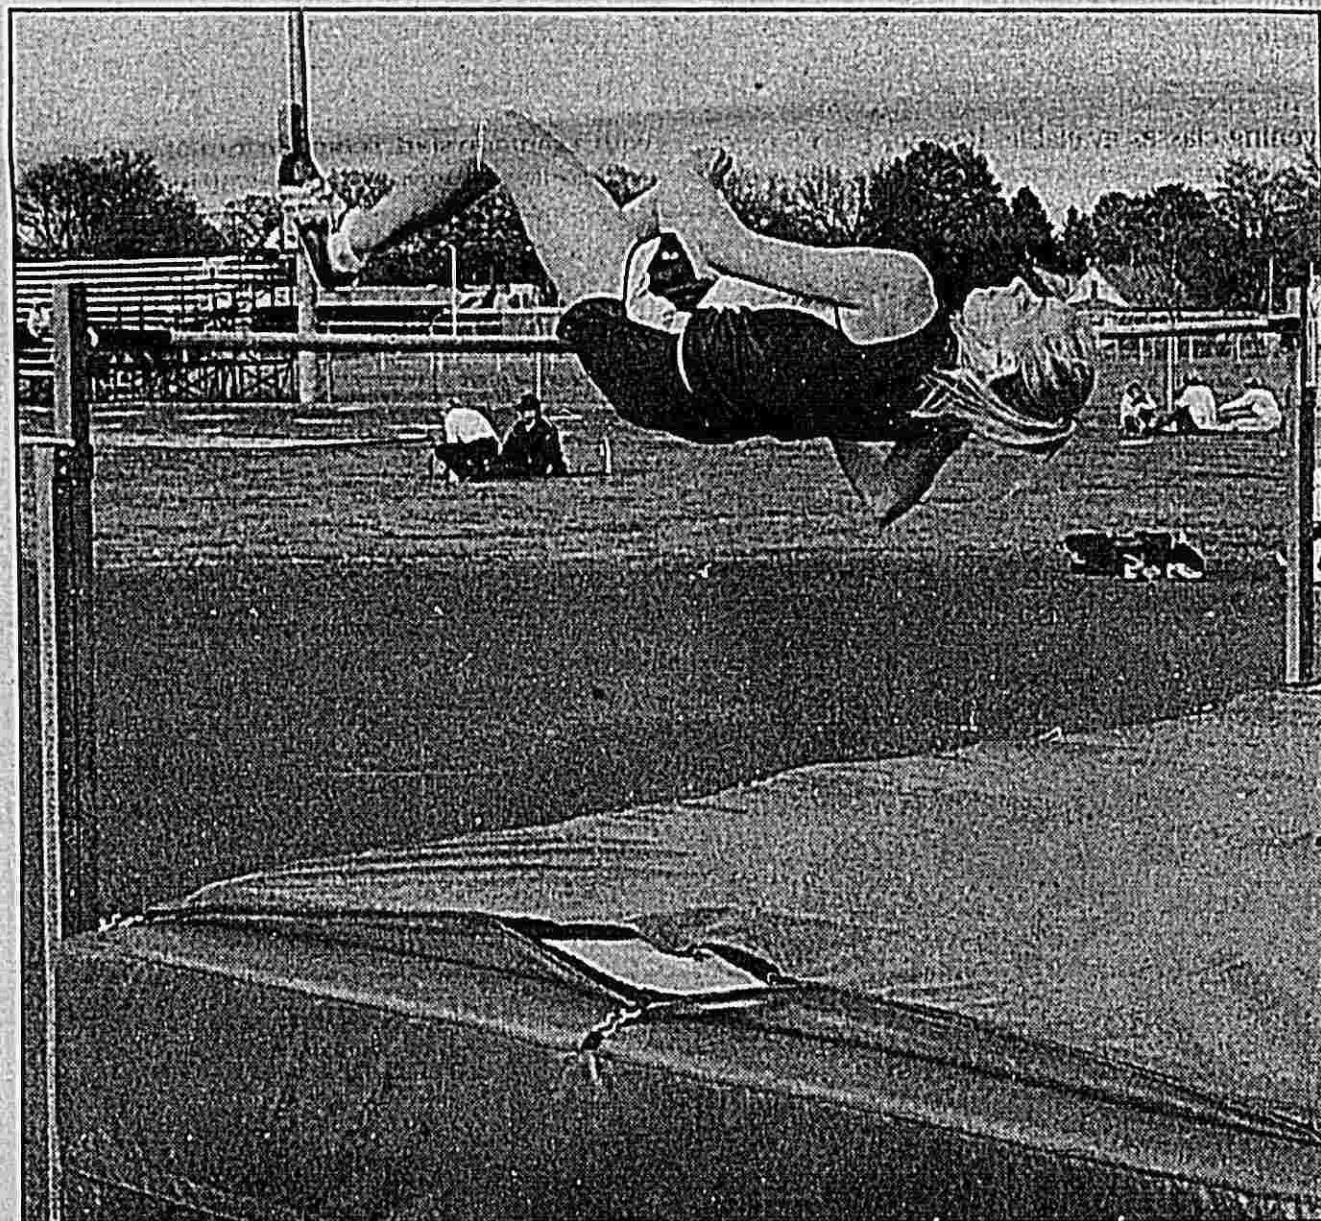

Cougar sophomore Tori Steinhaus also qualified, finishing first in the 110-meter high hurdles. Steinhaus clocked in with a 15.70.

Lizzy Proctor was Libertyville's lone qualifier. The senior took top honors in the pole vault with a leap of 10-feet even.

Round Lake's 1,600-meter relay team of Sandra Smith, Amber Hussain, Neshamah Carey and Jessica Pryde also made it, finishing second with a season-best and school record time of 4:05.40.

Pryde also qualified individually after winning the 400-meter dash in a time of 58.90 seconds. Carey just missed, finishing third with a time of 60.90 seconds.

Also qualifying for Warren was senior Nadine Pantton, who won the 200-meter dash vault with a leap of 9 feet, 9 inches, 3 inches over the state qualifying mark. Jenny Bock also qualified in the pole vault after finishing sixth with a leap of 9 feet, 6 inches. Other Bulldogs qualifying for state included Amy Lejeune, who was second in the 800-meter run with a time of 2:22.80. Grant also had two relays qualify. The 1,600-meter relay team of Kaela and Trista Munster, Kirsten Nozime and Lejeune finished third in 4:06, while the 3,200-meter relay team of Pam Staton, Lisa Bernard, Sara Petterson and Lejeune also second in a time of 9:50.90.

Carmel also had a strong meet, finishing third in the 15-team field. The Corsairs racked up 68 points.

Speedster Keri Coleman led the way. The senior was second in the 100-meter dash (12.20) and was part of the first-place 400-meter relay team, where she joined forces with Katie Quille, Pili Selz and sister, Keli Coleman to finish in a time of 49.60 seconds.

Others qualifying from Carmel included in a time of 25.80 seconds. Pantton will also head to state as part of the 1,600-meter relay that consisted of Asha Pumphrey, Alicia Ivy and Ashley Bonds. They were third with a time of 4:06.70.

Mundelein's only qualifier was Amesha baker, who finished third in the 200 with a state qualifying time of 25.90 seconds.

Preliminaries at the state meet will be on May 23, with the finals being held May 24.

Though not qualifying, Grayslake's Emma Johnston-Berresford finished a strong fifth in the long jump (15-8.50). Others not qualifying but performing well at sectionals included Antioch's Jen Dewar, third in the high jump (5 feet), and Jill Pish, who finished fifth in the 110 high hurdles (16.80). Melissa Pohlman was fifth in the 100 dash in 13.10. Wauconda's Jenny and Katie Ellis were the top performers for the Bulldogs. Jenny was fifth in the 800 (2:26.60), while Katie was fifth in the 1,600 run (5:34.10).

Mental aspect has Corsair spikers rockin', rollin'

Carmel High School setter Mike Schuster sets one up for his teammates during a home match against Libertyville High School. Carmel prevailed in two games 15-12, 15-2.—

Mental toughness seems to be the biggest reason for the Carmel volleyball team's 30-1 record.

No matter what situation the Corsairs find themselves in, it always seems to be a positive. Even if the team is down in their match, the players look upon the situation as a challenge rather than a negative, according to head coach Jon Baffico.

"I think our mental approach is as good as any team I've coached in terms of mental toughness during a game," Baffico said. "I've said it a thousand times this year and that is nothing rattles this team."

Take Monday's game against Libertyville as an example. With the Wildcats leading 10-5 in the first game and looking poised to win, the Corsairs bounced back, eventually winning on an ace by Mike Morici. Carmel won the match 15-12, 15-2.

"We've been in similar situations before," Baffico said. "There's just something about this group. They look at being down as a challenge and that's a real tribute to the kids."

Libertyville head coach Steve Rochon felt that the reason for the Wildcats' success early on had to do with the strong play of Kevin Morkin and Steve Olson. Libertyville won the North Suburban Conference title this season, due largely in part to the play of the two juniors. Morkin finished the Carmel game with 8 kills while Olson chipped in 5 kills.

"It's no secret that these guys are our weapons," Rochon said. "They [Carmel] really began to double up on Kevin in the second game."

As the Corsairs get set to begin their quest for a state title next week, Baffico feels that playing against many of the schools in the area has helped his team prepare for the upcoming regional tournament.

"We've done very well against the team's in the area this year," Baffico said. "Our one loss was to Vernon Hills. They play very well, but we've beaten Vernon Hills this year to. We think our schedule has prepared us well."

Carmel is the No. 1 seed and will begin regional play May 27 against the winner of the North Chicago-Mundelein game.

As for Libertyville, Rochon has been very happy with the play of his team this year and will look to continue the season as well on May 27 when they face the winner of the Zion-Antioch game.

"We've had a very good season," Rochon said. "We've been getting better every game and if we continue to improve, we'll be fine next week."

Wilmot Speedway opener May 24-25

By PAUL KUYAWA
Wilmot Correspondent

After months of hard work, dodging a wet spring and a shortage of good clay for the race-track, Local Motion Entertainment Inc. is ready to drop the green flag on their inaugural racing season.

"We've been behind the 8-ball all spring but we knew it would be an uphill struggle. Once we get the opener in, we can fine-tune everything from there," said co-promoter Gary Brown.

Local Motion Entertainment and the Wilmot Speedway will host a holiday weekend doubleheader, May 24-25. Opening night will feature winged 410-sprint cars, IMCA Modifieds and Hobby Stocks. The following evening will then feature IMCA Modifieds and Hobby Stocks.

Wilmot Speedway has long since been known for it's almost flat racing surface. Fans and competitors will hardly recognize the place now, though, with flat narrow corners that have been replaced with wide banked corners. The increased banking in the corners should lead to lap and race records being shattered this season.

All classes of cars will have a chance to make some laps before the season lid-lifter on Thurs., May 22 and Fri., May 23.

Drivers competing on Sun., May 25 will be eligible to double their earnings, provided that they race in the show the day before. The IMCA Modifieds and Hobby Stocks will be in action.

For up to date information contact the track racetrack at 262-862-2446 or the track office at 262-279-3892.

YOUTH SPORTS DIGEST

Lady HoopStar seventh-graders steal the show in Kenosha

The Northern Lake Country Lady HoopStars started the 2003 summer season in convincing fashion by going undefeated in the Kenosha AYBT Tournament. In four games, the Lady HoopStars went 4-0 while outscoring their opponents 195-46.

Leading the Lady HoopStars in scoring was point-guard Shana Shepherd with 43 points and 22 steals over the four games. Dominating the paint was team newcomer, Sara Boothe with 35 points and 26 rebounds and 7 blocks. Defensively, the Lady HoopStars owned the boards, averaging 33 rebounds a game. The defensive post team of Erin Claxton (19 rebounds), Meghan Slack (seven rebounds), Haley Glynn (22 rebounds) and Kelly Dones (12 rebounds) let little slip by for opponents. Up top, the guards gave the middle a rest by stealing the ball an average of 10 times per game. Another great addition to the Lady HoopStars, Erin Norwood, contributed six steals while Lory Shaw, Rachel Culp, and Joree Green each added 4.

The Northern Lake County HoopStars program is a traveling basketball program for boys and girls in grades 4-8. They are based in located in Gurnee. The Lady HoopStars are in their second year as a team and compete at the seventh-grade level. The team is coached by Paul Claxton. Joe Shepherd and Terry Culp are the assistants. Gene Woltjer is the Northern Lake County HoopStars founder and program administrator.

Other results*Basketball

The seventh-grade boy's Lake County Legends travel basketball team posted a 1-1 record in a North American Youth Sports (NAYS) tournament held at York High School in Elmhurst.

In game 1, the Legends defeated the Beach Park Eagles 42-41. Kevin Guirand led the team with 17 points. John VanHoorn chipped in 11 points, including the game-winning free-throw in overtime. Then, in game 2, the Legends put forth a strong defensive effort but came up short with a 54-39 loss to the Hammond, Indiana Storm. VanHoorn played solid defense, coming up with seven rebounds, two steals and two blocked shots to go along with his five points. Kevin Guirand led the scoring with 15 points. He also had five rebounds, a steal and two blocks. Mike Shields chipped in with seven points, two rebounds and one steal.

Contributions also came from Brandon Bushing (five points), Brian Fuller (four points, rebound), Dan Kalb (three points, two rebounds, assist) and Andy Goggin (three rebounds, assist).

Other Legend team members include James Androus, Victor Gier, Dane Hurley, and Mike Kezorski. The team is coached by Steve Krebs.

Soccer

The Lindenhurst Titan under-10 boy's soccer team battled to a 1-0 victory over Trevian Green. Billy Mohr took a feed from Vinnie Holm for the games only tally. Sharing keeper duties and recording their third shutout of the season were Taylor Krumpas and Alex Grimm.

Others contributing to the victory and playing well included Michael Beckman, Joey Carlborg, Matt Dexheimer, Tony Galo, Nathan McMahon, David Mmak, Connor Orth and Josh Pohlman.

The Fox Lake Fire boy's under-14 travel soccer team posted a 3-0 shut out victory over Barrington. Goalie Danny Deligio held Barrington in check while recording the shut out in goal. On offense for the Fire, Refugio Mariscal scored twice while Sammy Deligio scored once.

In addition to Sammy and Danny Deligio and Mariscal, Fire team members include Dominick Deligio, Juan Trevino, Mike Santiago, Placido Mendoza, Tommy Sircher, Johnathan Nelsen, Casey Murray, Sam Mantych, Jeff Lorenzen, Glenn Shoreman, Joey Diaz, Manuel Carillo, Andrew Kovarik, Brian Olsen and C.J. Wilson. Coaches for the Fire include Tom Sircher, Ron Nelsen and Sam Deligio.

The under-11 Rocket girl's soccer team of the Lindenhurst Area Soccer Club suffered a rare loss in falling to the Park Ridge Bombers, 3-0. Madeline Allen stopped four shots and Sarah Bartlett three as both shared keeper duties.

The under-11 Fox Lake Fire girl's traveling soccer team played one of its best games of the year in a 5-0 shutout over the Stingers from Hawthorne.

Kendra Kennedy scored the first two goals of the game as the Fire was well on its way. Joanne Maniscal scored the third goal, while Lauren Leska and Tianna Deligio added the fourth and fifth tallies, respectively.

Leska and Deligio's goals were their first of the season.

In addition to Kennedy, Maniscal, Leska and Deligio, other members of the Fire include Jade Lytle, Danielle Patera, Jessica Atchison, Stefanie Suentes, Desiree Dace, Hope Lantz, Rebecca White, Erica Carrillo and Janine Fiordiroso.

Her-ricanes win two

The under-9 Her-ricane girls of the Lindenhurst Area Soccer Club picked up two more victories last week. First, the Her-ricanes downed a Titans Blue team from Glenview, 3-1. Callen O'Keefe scored two goals while Autumn Muckenhirn scored the other. Ashley Downing and Leah Baker each recorded four saves in sharing time in goal.

Then, the Her-ricanes earned a tough-fought 1-0 victory over the Glenview Titans White team. Caitlin Jung accounted for the games' only tally. Keeper duties were shared by Chloe Basa, who stopped two shots, and Stephanie Aichholzer, who finished with three saves.

Baseball

The Wauconda Jr. Bulldogs 10-year-old travel team played some great baseball this past weekend.

The Bulldogs first lost an 18-13 barn-burner to Gurnee as the boys overcame a slow start to finish strong. Wauconda had the tying run on deck with the bases loaded in the final inning before Gurnee ultimately prevailed.

The Bulldogs came back though with a vengeance in thumping Lake Villa 21-11.

Outstanding pitching performances were turned in by Chris Hauser and Brandon Dorsey, while Austin Lee played strong behind the dish. In the infield Nate Meehan, Erik Maki, Evan Dwellen turned in several outstanding plays.

The outfield of Matt Ryan, Jeremy Wagner and Kyle Ryan took charge making it all happen. All of the kids bats were alive Wauconda had two clutch hits by James Zimmerman and Rj Dubois in two separate innings. Both batters were at the plate with two outs and runners on second and third. Both delivered key RBI hits.

The team seems to be hitting its stride. They are 3-2 on the young season, with all three victories coming by way of the 10-run slaughter rule. The two losses have been by four and five runs, so the team is extremely competitive even in a losing effort.

Tryouts*Baseball

Gurnee Youth Baseball will be holding tryouts for players ages 15-16 who are interested in playing for a summer traveling team. The tryouts will be held on Sat., May 24 from 8:30 a.m.-1 p.m. at the Gurnee Legion Field. The team will compete in Mike's Memorial Colt League against other teams such as Waukegan, Vernon Hills, Vernon Hills and Grayslake, to name a few.

The fee for the season is $120 per player and should be paid when that player is selected to the team.

'Hail to the champs!'

St. Joseph school in Round Lake had quite a season in boy's volleyball. The seventh-grade team finished a perfect 14-0 while winning the Fox Valley Northern Catholic Conference championship. The team includes Nathan Whittaker, Jacob Bresemann, Dylan Shearon, Tomas Valadez, Junior Sanchez, Charlie Patera and Jake Krupski. St. Joe's is coached by Lori Crecchio. ### Workers Get More Benefits, Higher Wages

By Scott T. Fleischmann

Last week Associated Press reported that benefits and wages for workers increased significantly in the first quarter of 2003. Good news! Although a 1.3% increase for three months may not seem like much, consider that it is the largest quarterly increase in 13 years. In addition, the increase was almost twice as much as the last three months of 2002. It also exceeded economist's estimates for the period by 62.5%. In the last 3+ years we have certainly heard our share of economic gloom and doom. Much of that bad news is related to the job market. Therefore, when we hear good news, we need to rejoice in it. This is, of course, great news for those who received the salary and benefit increases, but it is also good news for everyone in America, because those increases are the fuel that drives the economy.

Ultimately these increases, which directly benefit those who are currently working, will contribute to increased positions for those who are currently looking for a job. Here is how it works. The people who have received higher wages have only two choices. They can spend that money or they can save it. If they spend the dough, they create a need for workers to replenish those products or to supply those services. If they decide to save it, they create more capital to be used by companies and consumers to buy more goods and services. That creates more jobs. In either case, they are aiding the growth of the economy.

Additionally, these increased numbers show that management values the workers that are still employed. As we all know the unemployment numbers have been increasing steadily over the past few years. Meaning that fewer people have jobs. When that happens, management is predisposed to spend less on those who are working. Theoretically, if there are more workers available and fewer jobs, open positions can be filled more easily and less expensively.

However, the news of last week shows that is not true. In fact, we find that those workers that are still employed are required to do more than before the recession. Their management appreciates these additional contributions and is providing higher wages and better benefits as a reward. Most of the daily news we hear is not good, especially as it relates to the economy and the job market. In fact every time that the government delivers a report of gloom I get calls and e-mails asking what to do next. But when we hear good news I usually hear nothing. Just as the bad news generates caution (in some cases anxiety), we need to use the good news to produce hope and peace.

How can we use the good news to our advantage? Those who are unemployed could use the new found motivation to meet set up additional meetings to share their situations with friends who may know of jobs. Those who are looking for a job could decide to send out five more resumes because of the additional hope. The news from last week is not a sign that the recession is over or that the job market is fully recovered. The news will not provide one additional job. But those who use the news to their advantage could find a job because of it.
